

Education Activist Network meeting

TAKING BACK EDUCATION: WHAT WE WANT & HOW TO GET IT

With

Terry Eagleton Author

Laurie Penny Campaigning journalist

Alfie Meadows and others

Tuesday 18 January, 7pm

@ The Quad, London School of Economics Students' Union
Houghton Street, London WC2A 2AE (near Holborn)

<http://educationactivistnetwork.wordpress.com> ● twitter.com/edactivistnet

The struggle for education continues. The Education Maintenance Allowance has just been closed to new applicants and on Wednesday MPs will debate scrapping it altogether.

Parliament has voted to triple university tuition fees. Big business and the "free market" are increasingly being brought into the education sector, and all government funding for degrees in Arts and Humanities is being cut.

But what Parliament does, the streets can undo: the CPE in France and the poll tax in Britain were both overturned by mass protest movements, and the student revolt since November has been the biggest since the 1960s. Join us to discuss the coalition's attacks on the right to education – and where next for the movement to defeat them.

Education Activist Network meeting

TAKING BACK EDUCATION: WHAT WE WANT & HOW TO GET IT

With

Terry Eagleton Author

Laurie Penny Campaigning journalist

Alfie Meadows and others

Tuesday 18 January, 7pm

@ The Quad, London School of Economics Students' Union
Houghton Street, London WC2A 2AE (near Holborn)

<http://educationactivistnetwork.wordpress.com> ● twitter.com/edactivistnet

The struggle for education continues. The Education Maintenance Allowance has just been closed to new applicants and on Wednesday MPs will debate scrapping it altogether.

Parliament has voted to triple university tuition fees. Big business and the "free market" are increasingly being brought into the education sector, and all government funding for degrees in Arts and Humanities is being cut.

But what Parliament does, the streets can undo: the CPE in France and the poll tax in Britain were both overturned by mass protest movements, and the student revolt since November has been the biggest since the 1960s. Join us to discuss the coalition's attacks on the right to education – and where next for the movement to defeat them.